

Parking Options While Attending St. Paul's Episcopal Church

SUNDAY MORNINGS

Cost-free options on Sunday mornings

1. The church parking lot, which is limited to approximately 10-12 cars. It would be helpful if regular members would use the parking at the community center on a regular basis so that visitors and folks who have difficulty walking could park in the lot at the church. See Parking Etiquette below.
2. Street parking is free on Sunday so you can park without fee and without concern for time – except for Specific Parking Zones and bus stops. Don't limit your search for a parking space to the block St. Paul's is on.
3. St. Paul's has an agreement with The Uptown Community Center to allow parking on Sunday mornings in their parking lot from 7:30 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. – until March, 2008. The Community Center building is on the corner of Warren and Roy (157 East Roy), just one block east of St. Paul's. Turn left on Warren from Roy or Mercer Street. See map attached to parking permit.

Parking Etiquette

Our little parking lot doesn't fit as many cars as we'd like. But there are methods that will help us fit as many cars as possible. Especially before evening services when street parking is difficult to obtain, please follow these general rules: When filling in the spaces in the middle, (perpendicular to the church) please don't park at the edge of the parking lot (near the sidewalk) if there's no one in front of you, simply because you would like to leave right after the service. This usually causes at least two spaces to be left unfilled, and other people are unable to park in the lot. If you need to leave early, please park somewhere other than the parking lot. Also, try to park so that three rows of cars can fit in the middle section. Thank you for helping!

Pay options on Sunday morning

1. Metropolitan Market, Bartell Drugs and Kinkos share an underground parking lot. Metropolitan Market will validate for 90 minutes of parking when you make a purchase.
2. Other pay parking lots around Seattle Center.

Times other than Sunday Morning

Cost-free options

1. The Community Center parking lot at 157 East Roy Street is not available.
2. The parking lot next to the church building, which is limited to approximately 10-12 cars.
3. Street parking is free only before 8:00 a.m. and after 6:00 p.m. After 6:00 p.m. you can park without fee and without concern for time – except for Specific Parking Zones and bus stops. Don't limit your search for a parking space to the block St. Paul's is on. Walking is healthy and quick.

Pay options

1. Street parking is $1.50 per hour with a maximum of 2 hours.
2. Metropolitan Market lot (see above).
3. Other pay parking lots around Seattle Center.